For the Regional Administrator :

Cook Inlet Tribes Subsistence Consumption Assessment : Seldovia Village Tribe in southcentral Alaska is completing an assessment of Cook Inlet Tribes' subsistence consumption. Funded through an FY12 IGAP Special Project, this assessment includes a survey of tribal subsistence consumption rates , patterns, and preparation of anadromous and resident fish species and other subsistence resources in 4 villages around Cook Inlet (Seldovia, Port Graham, Nanwalek, and Tyonek). The study was modeled after the CRITFC survey. Seldovia submitted a Draft Cook Inlet Subsistence Assessment Report and data December 30. According to the draft report, the overall average rate of fish consumption by adults throughout the year was 94.8 grams/day. The overall average rate reported by the CRITFC study was 58.7 grams/day. TTAU will convene a review panel including staff from ETPA , OEA, and OW January 16, and plans to provide comments to the tribe by January 31. (Katherine Brown)
